Welcome

IN THE WORLD OF LAIMBÖCK

A world of heritage, craftsmanship and inspiration...
One that has passionately offered numerous customers the highest quality leather accessories since 1831. It's pure craftsmanship we would love to introduce and hopefully inspire you to join. We're passionate about being attentive to only the best quality and making the right gloves for you.

Laimböck is delighted to be able to offer you the 2015-2016 catalogue. The new collection is carefully put together with special attention to reinventing and expanding both our basic and fashion models adjusted to the latest trends. And of course the reintroduction of Laimböck bags and accessories, matching with our gloves.

We not only strive to inspire you with our new catalogue, but also hope to provide an informing role. Making leather accessories is our passion and heritage and we love to share this expertise with you. Every effort has been made to ensure that the collection is accurate and the level of quality they contain is the highest possible.

Laimböck is the leather glove specialist par excellence. Because leather is a natural product it has its own unique variations, nuances of colour and markings. This results in each pair having its own individual characteristics and natural beauty.

CRAFTSMANSHIP

[QUALITY & CARE]

Manufacturing gloves requires a careful production process and specialized craftsmanship. Each pair of gloves is unique and made with care.

1/4 LEATHER SELECTION

The material selection is extremely important, because of the difference in thickness, flexibility and structure of the leather. The best usable leather for gloves originates from countries with a tropical climate and will be tanned by leather/glove specialists only.

2/4 CUTTING

The most important and precise step is cutting the leather and to decide which piece is suitable for which part of the glove. Each pair of gloves is composed out of at least 25 components.

Glove manufacturers are also called the watch makers of the fashion industry.

3/4 SEWING

All of our seamstresses have their own specialty, for instance the making of the thumb, the fourchettes or the trimmings. After the glove is composed the lining is placed into the gloves. It's important the lining is well sewn to the fingertips and closed at the cuff of the gloves.

4/4 QUALITY CONTROL

The last step is quality control. This QC inspection is precise and when the gloves have passed this inspection they are sent to the department where they will be ironed and polished to get the perfect shape and look. After this process the gloves will be packed in a moisture free atmosphere. This way, the gloves will arrive in perfect shape at their final destination.

Leather

[QUALITIES & ORIGIN]

Laimböck truly represents the world's finest leather gloves, which they have been manufacturing for many years now. As there is more that meets the eye when producing a pair of nappa gloves, or a pair of peccary gloves, we would like to inform you about the several leathers we use.

Leather is a natural product with special characteristics that makes it comfortable to wear, and gives it great strength and flexibility. Because it is a natural product, with its own unique variations, nuances of color, and markings, every piece has its own individual characteristics and natural beauty.

NAPPA

The finest nappa (smooth leather) comes from Africa. It has great strength and natural elasticity, which makes the glove perfectly. The benefits of this leather are the softness of touch, suppleness, strength and long lasting comfort.

SUEDE

Suède is a finish of leather, rather than a type. You might call suede "inside out"- leather, because the surface is the inside, not the outside. Splits from thick hides are also suede. Because suede does not include the tough exterior skin layer, suede is less durable but softer than standard ("full-grain") leather.

NUBUCK

Nubuck is a top grain leather, which has been specially dyed for color and the polished to create a rough look. Since Nubuck leather has no pigment applied these hides will show slight color variation from hide to hide and dye lot to dye lot. Because of the thickness, this type of leather is only for the use of men's gloves.

LAMMY

Originates from Spain and Portugal. It is widely used for casual and country gloves. It is very warm in cold weather, and has its own natural wool lining from the wool of the sheep. This fur is very rare with a higher price range as result. The finest reversed lambskin comes from New Zealand. This is often referred to as slinks lambskin. These skins are only used for the most expensive reversed lambskin gloves. For gloves also a heavier and firmer skin is used, sheepskin, also often called shearling.

PECCARY

Peccary leather is one of the most rare and luxurious types of leather available. Peccary is made of peccary wild water pigs who mainly live in Brasil an Peru. One separates the black - and grey peccaries, of which the last type of leather is one of the most soft and supple. Laimböck is one of the few glove suppliers in the world what still uses the special Peccary leather in the manufacturing of their gloves.

DEERSKIN

The finest deerskin comes from North America and has the benefit of great strength and elasticity. The skin characterizes itself by the more rugged appearance with more grain in the surface. This type of leather is most popular for use of men's gloves.

SPECIAL LEATHER

The exclusive collection of special leather consists of gloves of luxurious calf leather, real crocodile leather and an example of real python skin.

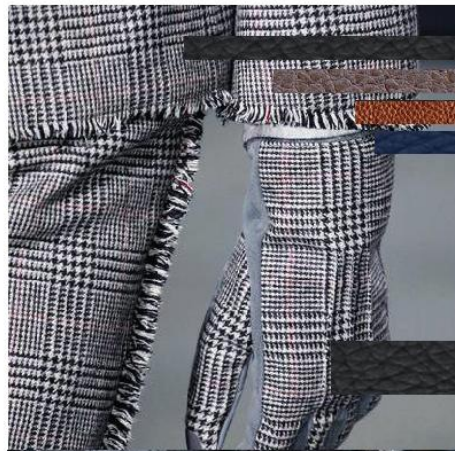

TRENDS

[FALL/WINTER 2015-2016]

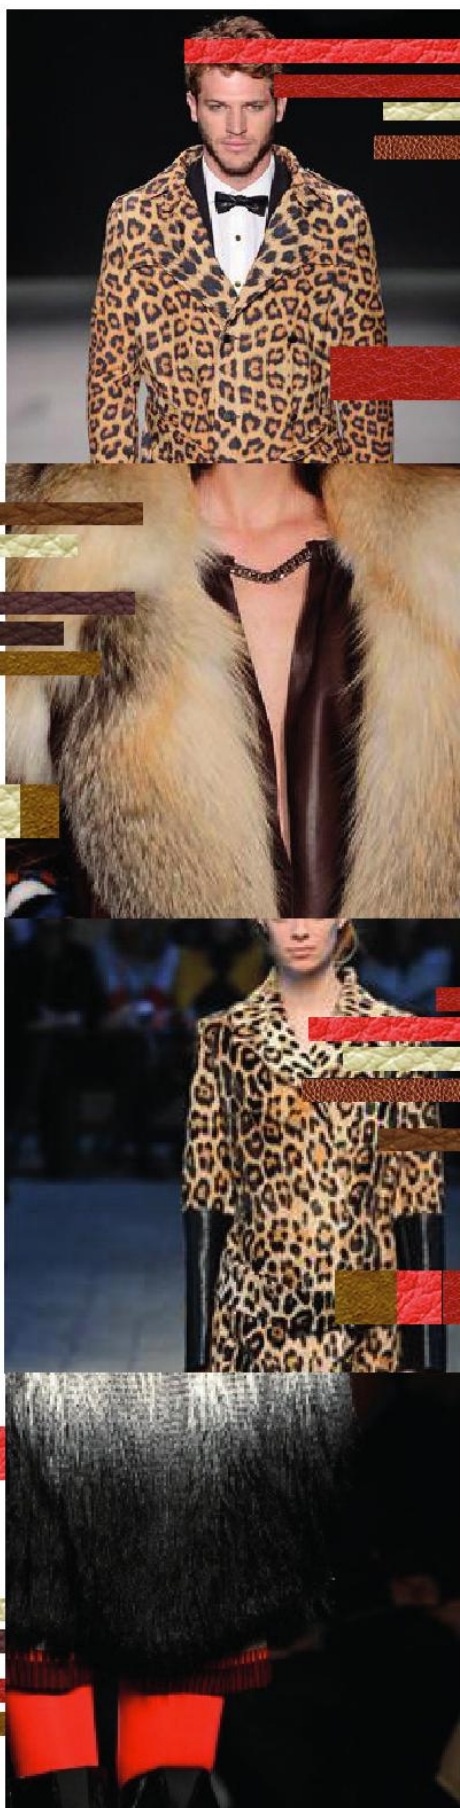

TREND MODERN DANDY

Most important in this theme is the new dandy. Dandy means refined, exclusivist, bohemian, gallant and flamboyant. This trend is a celebration of androgynism and it's not only for men. So, don't be afraid to look aristocratic. Gloves, bow ties, brocade, silk and velvet dresses, hats, pocket watches, clutches made of luxurious fabrics...all these should be in your wardrobe. If you want to dress to impress try to go with bohemian tones, such as dark, gray shades, earthy tones like browns and neutral. Don't be afraid to mix. Different textures can co-exist in the same outfit.

TREND LET'S GO WILD

Going on with the trends that never fade away, we can't miss out the animal trend combined with a lot of fur. Experiments with details: let the animal print dwell in your bag, shoes or gloves.

We see a lot of croco, snake and also leopard print is here to stay.

Prints of different animals are combined.

Sometimes prints look more like cartoons, very big and unreal. The fur is presented in many ways, cut back, elegant, fantasy and hairy. The pony hair leather is bigger than ever before. Lammy look was forgotten a little, but this season it is full front again, we see many colours and reversed lambskins also with nappa look.

TREND MONOCHROME

This is all about borrowing from the boys. It is a continuation of the movement we are seeing in the year of the woman. The styles we've seen in the "boy meets girl" trend are based on how women are looking to menswear for inspiration.

Elements of Design are a fresh take on the mixture of fabrications; rich toned leathers, durable canvas, twills and soft pastels. Function is of big importance, furthermore we see a lot of rubber, thickenings, embossings, structure and layering.

HERITAGE

[THE BEST QUALITY]

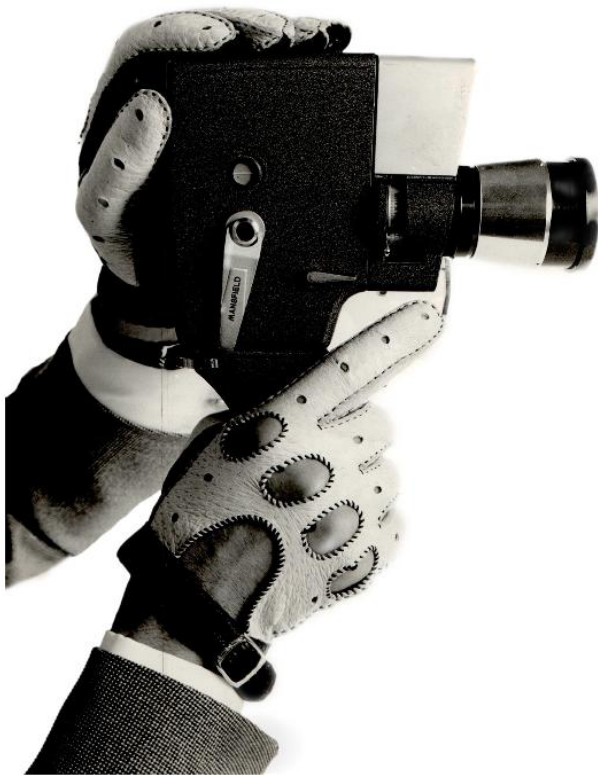

A brief summary about the famous glove brand Laimböck; the origin and evolution of the company over the years. The Heritage Collection selects the evergreens of the brand.

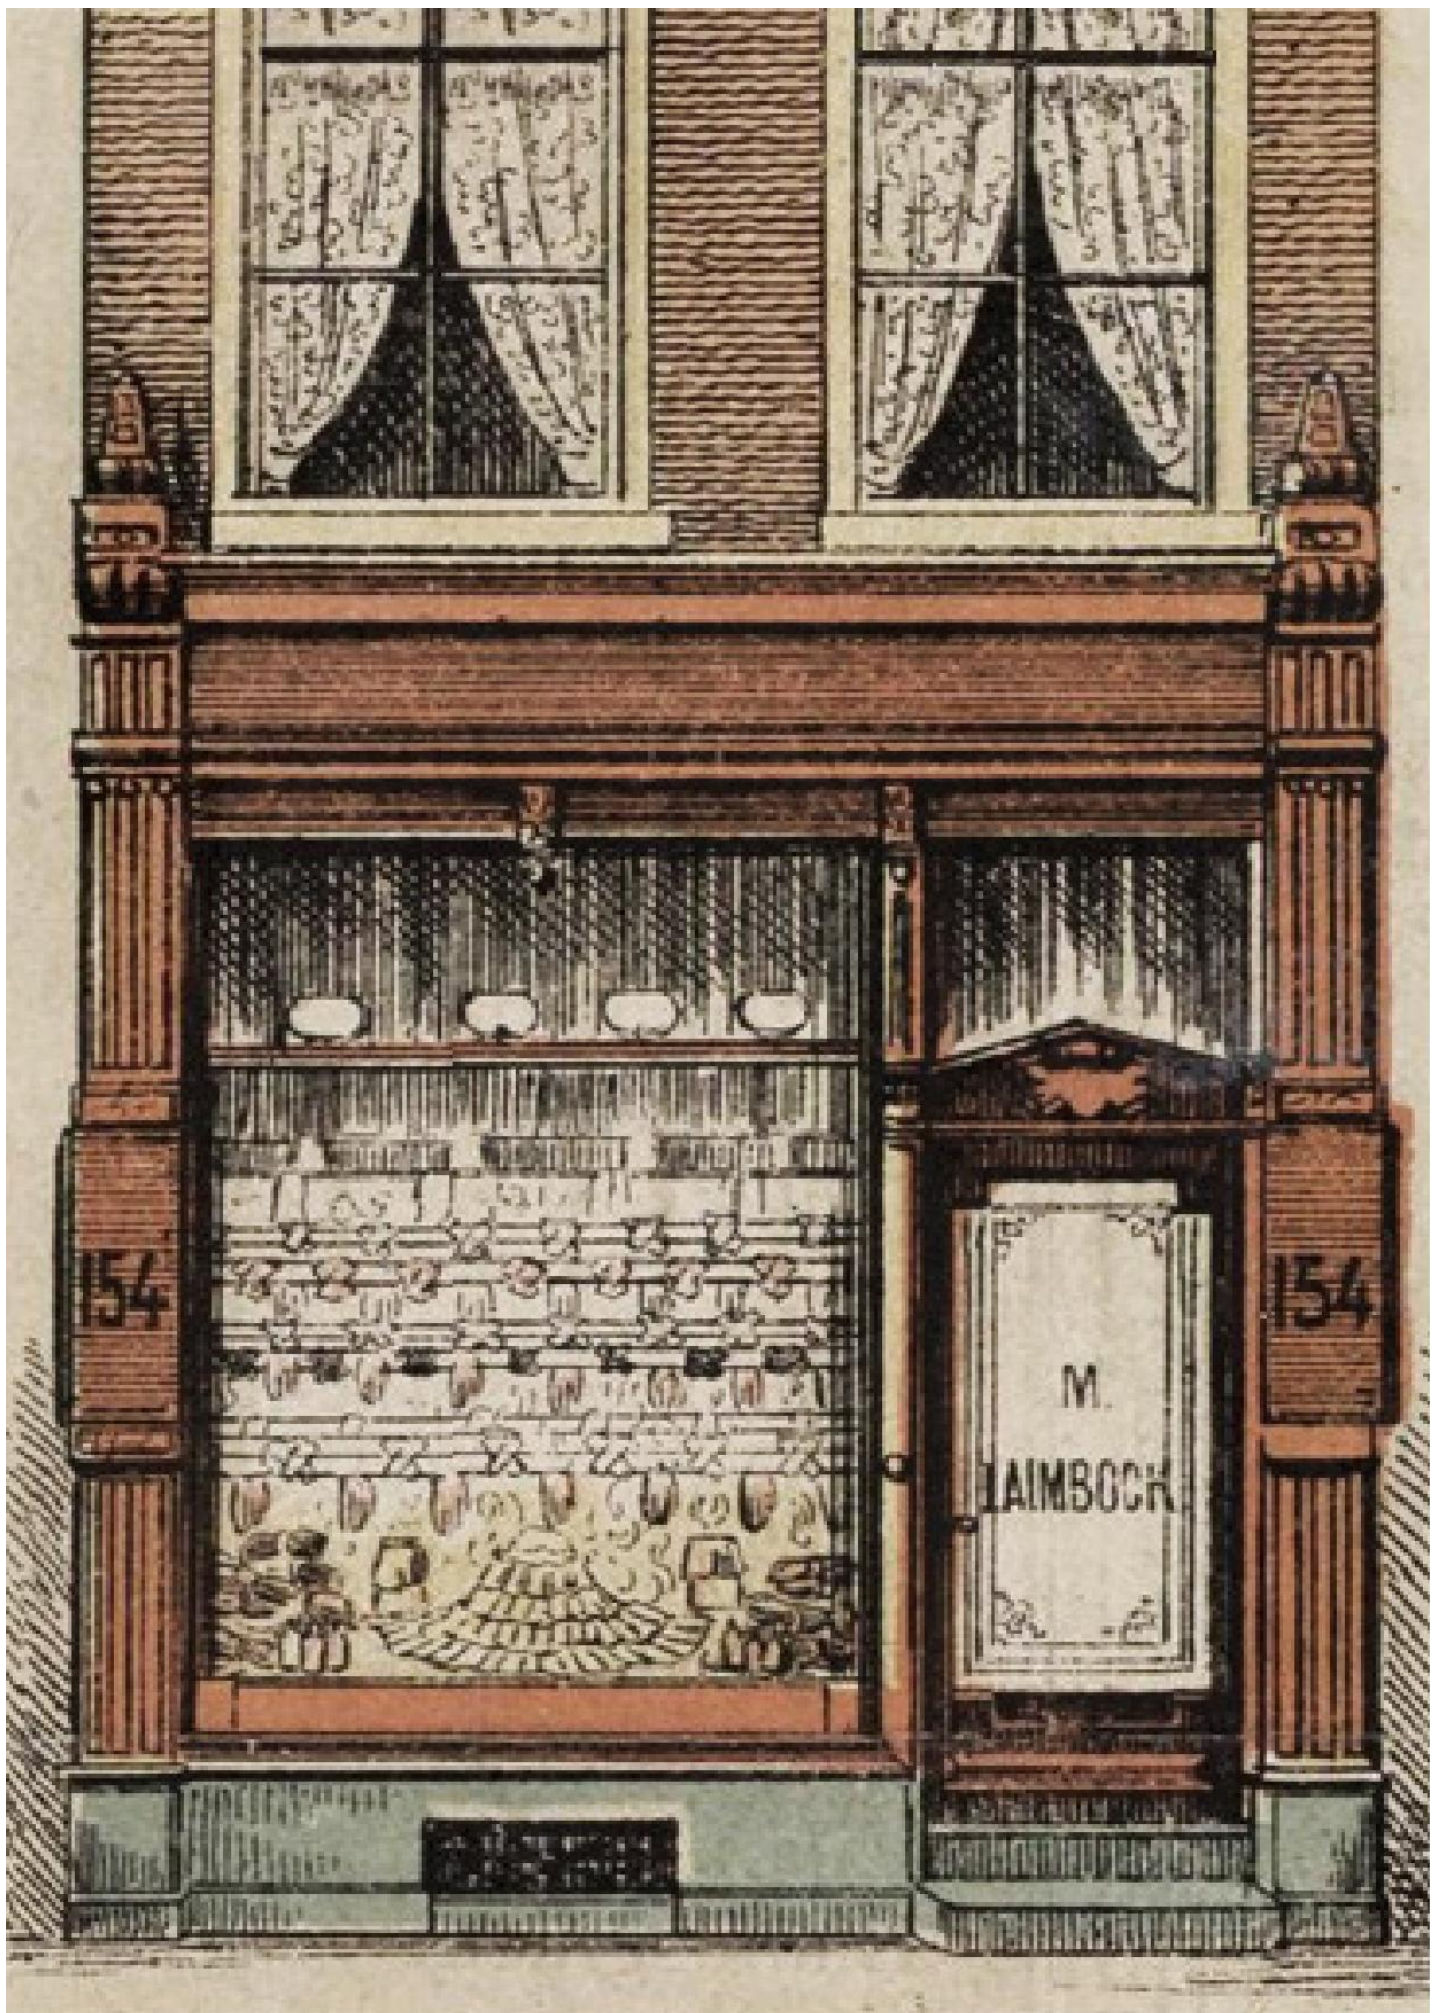

Laimböck is one of the biggest glove brands in Europe and Royal Warranty Holder since 1891. The glove making family Laimböck travelled from Tirol to the Netherlands in 1831 to sell their gloves. Laimböck was famous for their glacé gloves, made out of shiny chamois leather, which were a well-known speciality of the Zillertaller traders.

Later on the family developed the traditional crochet glove and driving glove, which is becoming a fashion statement at this very moment. The emphasis on the Tyrolean character continued to exist and is still used in the Laimböck glove collection nowadays.

One of the first stores Laimböck opened was in Scheveningen on the prestigious Gallery. Many stores in other cities followed, mostly built by Laimböck. Today you can find Laimböck in the finest shops and department stores. There is even a special 'Heritage Collection' that highlight Laimböck's evergreen gloves.

Making gloves is our tradition, our passion and our heritage.

MATCHING CONCEPT

[LEATHER BAGS & ACCESSORIES]

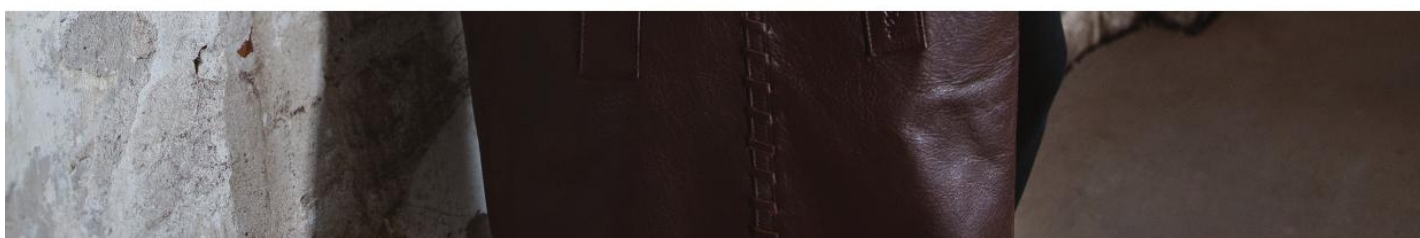

Upcoming winter season Laimböck goes back to her roots and introduces a unique accessories collection. The new developments at Laimböck arise from the demand for 'matching' must-haves. Our starting point is our passion; gloves. The concept shows a complete accessory collection including bags and leather accessories made with the same passion and expertise as the gloves.

Actually it is a reintroduction, because in the 19th and 20th centuries also sold Laimböck bags. These are formerly known by the beautiful details such as quilted seams, luxury chain straps and closures. The prices of the accessories differs from a purse of €79 till a weekend bag of €249. The collection for Fall/Winter 2015-2016 is divided in several themes as a perforated leather set, a every day basic program and an animal theme. All made out of beautiful soft nappa or suede.

High quality craftsmanship is the key element. We have years of experience in making leather products of the highest quality. In case you want to receive more information about our matching accessories program please feel free to contact us and we will show you our wonderful collection.

Laimböck introduces a basic program of matching leather accessories, which combines functionality with design. The basic program contains a collection of suede and nappa styles. It's available in various colors. Every design has the same recognizable detailed wickerwork on the front. Within this theme there is a matching range of accessories such as gloves, bags and purses.
