optica blue^{uv}

People are over exposed to blue light because our society demands the use digital devices on a daily basis. For example TV's, led lighting, smartphones , computers... all these devices emit blue light.

What exactly is blue light?

The light spectrum consists of different wavelength and intensities. Blue light is a part of this spectrum and is located just before UV light. Blue light is characterized by a short wavelength and high intensity

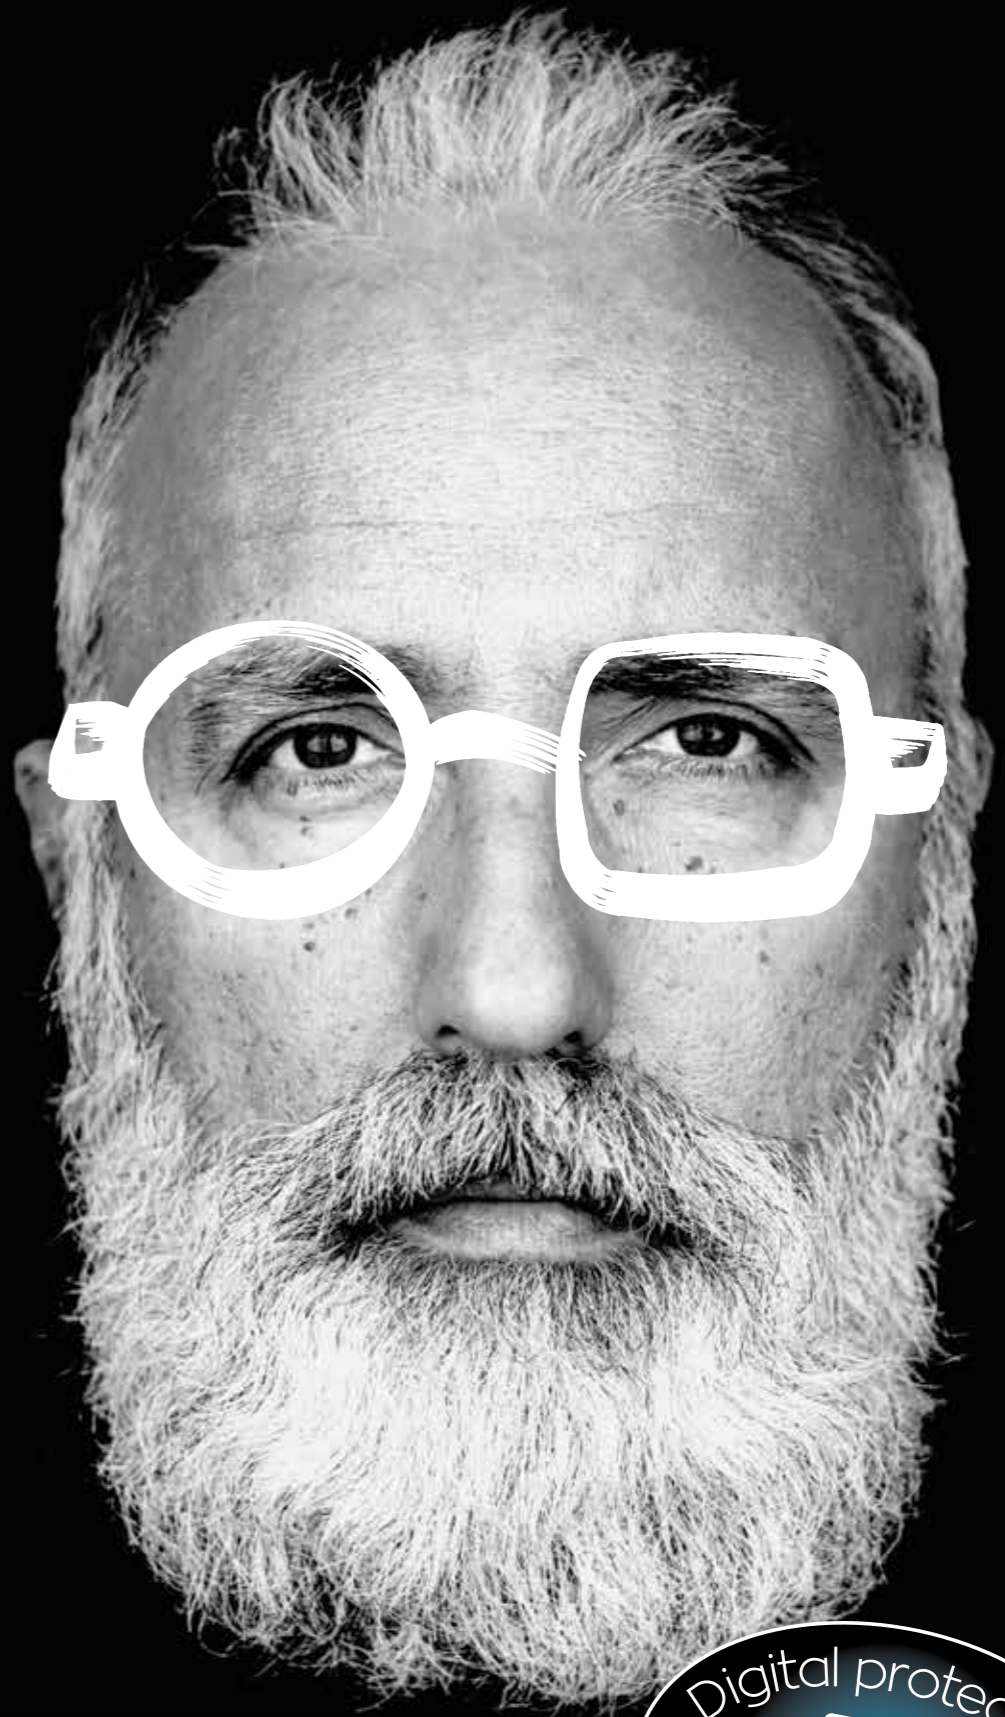

Blue light does not add anything to complete the visual acuity, unlike other parts of the light spectrum, on the contrary, it can lead to eye fatigue.
